Healthcare

Providing off duty law enforcement officers to hospitals, medical centers, and emergency departments requires extra care. Not every officer has the temperament, or experience to tactfully work in healthcare environments.

These officers must have a greater sensitivity to the needs of patients, their families, and experience dealing with people in traumatic situations.

Off Duty Services matches an officer's experience along with their agency's culture to healthcare's unique policing needs. This means our officers come from agencies requiring courtesy and respect interacting with their communities. We've found these officers bring that same sensitivity to serving member institutions and individual locations.

Healthcare "Right-Fit" Selection Process

We ensure the right officers are placed in the right situation during our selection process. By screening officers against a specialized, healthcare-service profile, we setup success for you and our officers alike.
